POLICE INVESTIGATE SUSPICIOUS DEATH AT DOWNTOWN WATERFRONT

San Diego Police Department Homicide Unit detectives are investigating the death of a male whose body was found floating in San Diego Harbor today.

At 10:51 a.m., a boater flagged down San Diego Police officers who were on the G Street Pier and told them there was a body floating in San Diego Harbor, just off the pier. The officers contacted the Harbor Police, who retrieved the body from the water. The body was that of an adult male. Based on its condition, the death was deemed suspicious and Homicide Unit detectives were called in to investigate.

The body was transported to the Medical Examiner's Office, where an autopsy will determine the cause of death.
